Why Integrate EMDR and Play Therapy?

The principles and practices of a prescriptive play therapy approach enable practitioners to engage and motivate child clients in the therapeutic process by harnessing the healing power of play. Play therapy enables the therapist to become a trusted part of the child's world. By grounding the therapist in the concept of using play as the process for client learning we can better integrate Shapiro's Adaptive Information Processing and EMDR with play therapy to increase the insights, creativity and innovation of the therapist and make psychotherapy more developmentally appropriate for children.

This workshop will be held live online via Zoom with opportunity for live Q&A and active, small group participation.

Dates: May 21 & 22, 2024 9:45 am - 2:00 pm EASTERN TIME

Cost: $189

Who Should Attend: Must have completed EMDRIA approved basic training.

Description: When child and adolescent therapists complete training in EMDR therapy, they sometimes find it challenging to integrate EMDR into their current work and are often looking for ways to deliver the 8 phase EMDR protocol in more developmentally sensitive ways. This workshop will help clinicians integrate Play Therapy principles and EMDR for children to increase the confidence of the clinician and make EMDR therapy possible in a child friendly setting. Children learn best through the tactile/kinesthetic or full body learning of play, thus making the integration of play therapy and EMDR therapy an important component of effective treatment for traumatized children. We will master a variety of preparation phase interventions and explore how to invite children into re-processing phase in the context of their play. We will expose participants to titration of trauma content in using EMDR with play-based trauma narratives using some video examples and discussion of how to respect the child's movement towards and away from the trauma content. Case examples illustrating how to integrate parents into this work will be woven throughout the day.

Objectives: Participants will

- List 8 essential considerations in integrating the therapeutic powers of play therapy with EMDR for children.
- Apply a play therapy scripted technique for obtaining a trauma history from the child in a developmentally sensitive way during phase one.
- Practice a play therapy intervention to install and enhance positive beliefs and resources during phase two to make the client stronger.
- Select materials and activities to prepare children for the EMDR protocol and notice their own body sensations during play therapy sessions.
- Explain 2 ways of inviting and guiding play narratives that titrate the approach to traumatic material during assessment, desensitization and reprocessing phases.
- Demonstrate a sequence of interventions to involve caregivers in all phases of EMDR.
- Identify 5 prescriptive play therapy activities to promote self-regulation
- Recognize when to directly include parents through the use of a scripted parent interview and inventory.
